SC stays ban on cow slaughter

New Delhi, July 11- The Supreme Court (SC) this morning ordered a nation-wide stay on Central Government's rule that had imposed a blanket prohibition on the slaughtering of cattle brought from animal markets.

The SC extended the Madras High Court's stay order on the issue stating that "livelihood cannot be subjected to uncertainties."

The Centre on May 25 had banned sale of cattle, including cows, for slaughter and restricted cattle trade to farm owners, a decision that hit poor farmers and squeezed supplies to the country's Rs. 1 lakh-crore meat industry.

The Madras High Court on May 30 had stayed the notification on the ground that it violated an individual's right to choice of food. Today, the Apex Court upheld Madras High Court's verdict and extended the same across the nation.

The cow vigilantism had increased following the ban on cow slaughter and incidents of lynching on account of alleged slaughter have been reported from different parts of the country.

MLA Somashekar CONFIDENT of early relief

MLA M.K. Somashekar seen addressing a press meet at Patrakarthara Bhavan here this morning as Corporator M. Sunil looks on.

Mysuru, July 11 (RKB&NNN)- Allaying the fears of the residents of Kurubarahalli Survey No. 4 and Alanahalli Survey No. 41 MUDA Layouts regarding the stalemate in resolving the question of "B-Kharab" land, KR MLA M.K. Somashekar assured the residents that things will be sorted out soon enough and there is no cause for concern.

Addressing a hurriedly convened press conference at the Patrakarthara Bhavan here this morning, he said that Kurubarahalli Sy. No. 4 and Alanahalli Sy. No. 41 might have been inadvertently included in Survey No. 3 by the then Deputy Commissioner, which has led to so much of problems to the residents.

Grooming gen next

The land's youth used to be exhorted until recently by public speakers, including those holding high posts in government and leading lights in academia, to cultivate scientific temperament and outlook. It is anybody's guess if the call has been accepted and acted upon by the youth to a perceptible extent. Rush of students to colleges offering courses in professional streams of medical, dental, engineering, information technology, agriculture and commerce provides ample proof of science subjects not finding favour with the youth as well as their parents. Given the current volatile scenario in the country's job market and dramatic action by major companies resorting to lay off in the IT sector, we may once again witness a reverse trend of science subjects attracting the students, like the proverbial 'return of the prodigal son.' If the just launched mass scale mission of skilling the land's human resources by both the Union Government and a few State Governments, including Karnataka, succeeds according to expectations, one has to keep one's fingers crossed until the day of witnessing victory of skills over science (as a choice by the youth).

The air is abuzz with voices from various quarters expressing disappointment about the government's intervention into the education system at all levels forbidding its healthy progress. The country's intelligentsia has not come out in full strength to set right the wrongs done by successive governments. For example, the clout of politicians in deciding on the choice of persons to key posts in Universities, such as UoM, says it all.

The often publicised information that India hosts the highest number of graduates in science subjects doesn't quite match the other related information that no University figures among the top 200 Universities globally, with the exception of Bengaluru-based Indian Institute of Science, which has barely made the grade by being placed at rank 99. One need not be disheartened after learning about the poor showing in the global academic scenario only because the parameters for ranking academic institutions, such as a) publication of articles in journals of repute, b) number of patents in the name of their staff, c) Nobel Prizes awarded to the faculty and so on are more suited to the objectives and goals set for the western society. If India's academic institutions pursuing scientific research, including Universities, stick to just one parameter of carrying out successful research to redeem the miseries of the land's poor, we don't have to ask for more. That done, the scientists also achieve fulfilment in their chosen profession.

The just disclosed measure taken by Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) facilitating its research personnel drawn from 38 national laboratories to teach at least 50,000 Kendriya Vidyalaya students under a programme called Jigyasa (curiosity) augurs well for the nation's future by grooming gen next. Securing high global rank among Universities shall be a goal set for the students of our times.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

HUGGING = SUPERPOWER STATUS?: There seems to be a method to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's penchant for hugging heads of State and Government, and it is evident in the messaging of Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) workers among people. BJP and Sangh Parivar workers across the country and particularly in Uttar Pradesh have taken it upon themselves to tell people how some of the strongest men in the world hugging Modi — US President Donald Trump and Israeli PM Benjamin Netanyahu being the latest example — was a sign that India is finally seen as a superpower for its economic and military might under the three years of the Modi government. This, or so is the word on the ground, had not been possible with any of Modi's predecessors. — In Business Standard.

Umbrella Sharing a flop concept !

Beijing: Sharing E-Umbrella, a new umbrella sharing company based in Shenzen, China, recently announced that it had lost most of the 300,000 umbrellas it made available since it launched, in April.

China's sharing economy has been booming, with companies offering anything from bicycles and basketballs to smart-phone battery banks on a rental basis. Customers make a small deposit and get to use the item for a set period of time for a daily fee, with penalty fees for those who fail to return the product after the deadline. Inspired by the success of the bicycle sharing model, Zhao Shuping, a businessman from Shenzen, founded the Sharing E-Umbrella, an umbrella sharing service, in April. Picking up the umbrellas was relatively simple, as they were made available at bus and subway stations, the return policy turned out to be a different matter entirely. Instead of returning the umbrellas back to a station, a lot of people just took them home, and Sharing E-Umbrella has reportedly lost track of most of the 300,000 umbrellas it had in circulation.

One more son of Nature!

Dhaka: They say that one man can't make a difference, but Abdul Samad Sheikh, a 60-year-old rickshaw driver from Bangladesh, is living proof that small contributions over a long period of time can mean very much. He has planted at least one tree every day since he was 12-years-old, which means that he has so far planted a small forest of over 17,500 trees.

Abdul Samad Sheikh, fondly known as "Tree Samad" in his native town of Faridpur, central Bangladesh, has worked as a rickshaw driver for most of his life. The modest job earns him about 100 taka ($1.25) per day, which is barely enough to put food on the table for his family, but he somehow manages to buy at least one tree from the Faridpur Horticulture Centre, every day. He considers it his duty to the world, and claims he wouldn't be able to sleep at night if he didn't plant a tree that day.

VOICE OF THE READER

My son is in Engineering, what about yours?

Sir,

How often do we hear this sentence when we ask someone, what his or her daughter or son is studying? The answer in almost all cases would be Engineering.

Today, it looks like colleges are churning out Engineering graduates and with slowing IT jobs and manufacturing industry yet to employ in a big way it may be sort of overkill of Engineers with nowhere to go.

There is a need by our Education Department to promote and educate the mass of young minds to look beyond Engineering. It would be a good idea if the Department of Higher Education can take cue from the Tourism Department to start spreading knowledge about various courses that one can opt for.

Except a few, today's children seriously lack information regarding the various courses that our curriculum offers. The government must put the digital platform to good use to promote the advantages of the alternate courses available so that some of the bright students who would have otherwise moved to Engineering can think of alternate courses.

Zebra crossing near AIISH needs new coat of paint

Sir,

The vehicle inflow at AIISH junction on Bogadi Road is getting denser and there is a need for more discipline by the vehicle-users.

Even though there is a divider on the SJCE Road, due to fading away of the zebra crossing, motorists coming from SJCE Road do not stop at the divider and keep moving much ahead and stop.

KSRTC buses taking left have no room to turn left from Bogadi Road towards SJCE side. This leads to blocking of vehicles that are behind; it is also a serious safety issue for the vehicle-users on SJCE Road as the bus has to almost brush past the two-wheeler riders, who are ever eager to be first in the queue at the signals blocking the easy manoeuvring of the bigger vehicles turning left.

Regrettably, the hapless Home Guards are not of much help as they have resigned to their fate of being mute spectators. It is a pity to mention that differently-abled children walking around there are more disciplined than the able bodied.

I request the authorities concerned to ensure the zebra crossing is clearly marked and discipline restored near this important and busy junction.

Colleges' 8 am time-table to be withdrawn

Rayareddy

Bengaluru, July 11- The new time-table that mandated Government First Grade Degree Colleges to start classes at 8 am will be withdrawn by the Higher Education Department.

Higher Education Minister Basavaraj Rayareddy told a section of the press that he had asked the Department officials to withdraw the order and ensure that classes are held as scheduled at 10 am, following opposition from a section of lecturers and students.

Some of the office-bearers of Karnataka Government College Teachers' Association met Minister Rayareddy yesterday to discuss the issue.

Yesterday, which was the first day of the new academic year, colleges received mixed response regarding the new timings. While some colleges began classes at 8 am, many could not start on time as students did not turn up.

Students in 411 Government First Grade Degree Colleges had to attend lectures at 8 am starting this academic year. It was previously at 10 am.

Former UoM VC Prof. K.S. Rangappa,

ex-KPSC Member Prof. H. Govindaiah join JD(S)

Mysuru, July 11 (SBD&DM)- Prof. K.S. Rangappa, former Vice-Chancellor of University of Mysore (UoM) and Karnataka State Open University (KSOU), joined JD(S) in the presence of JD(S) Supremo H.D. Deve Gowda and the party's State Unit Chief H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) at an induction programme held at Sa.Ra. Convention Hall in Dattagalli yesterday.

Along with Prof. Rangappa, former KPSC Member Prof. H. Govindaiah too joined the party. The others who joined the party included former city Corporator Shankarappa, Bannur Kumar, Bogadi Nagaraj and other leaders from the Congress and BJP.

Welcoming them to the party, Deve Gowda said that Prof. Rangappa had made remarkable achievements as VC of UoM and KSOU. Noting that the induction of Prof. Rangappa and Prof. Govindaiah had further strengthened the party in the region, Deve Gowda said, he would comment on the functioning of the State and Central Governments at an appropriate time as this was only an induction programme.

Former CM and State JD(S) President HDK, in his address, said that there was no difference of opinion among JD(S) leaders and they stand united.

Maintaining that the statement of Prajwal Revanna, son of his brother H.D. Revanna, did not hurt him, Kumaraswamy clarified that the young leader has not met him so far. Prajwal had made a startling revelation about 'Suitcase culture' in the party recently.

Alleging that some leaders are conspiring to plant stories in the media that the JD(S) leaders are divided, the former CM taking a dig at the party rebel MLAs, said a few leaders, who practised 'suitcase culture', have now left the party.

JD(S) Supremo H.D. Deve Gowda is seen handing over the party flag to Prof. K.S. Rangappa and Prof. H. Govindaiah, to mark their induction into JD(S) yesterday. Party's State Unit President H.D. Kumaraswamy, MLAs S.R. Mahesh & G.T. Devegowda and others look on.

Coming down heavily on BJP leaders for tension and violence in Mangaluru, he said, the BJP men staged a protest when the situation was tense in the region.

He also hit out at the Government for failing to bring back peace in the region and for not holding a peace meeting.

Kumaraswamy also called upon the party workers and MLA G.T. Devegowda (GTD) to ensure the defeat of CM Siddharamaiah in Chamundeshwari Constituency if he chooses to contest from there in the 2018 Assembly polls.

Stating that there were reports that Siddharamaiah would contest from Chamundeshwari Assembly segment, he said that GTD should take it as a challenge to ensure the CM's defeat.

Maintaining that Siddharamaiah's contribution to Chamundeshwari constituency was nil, the State JD(S) President said that the JD(S) should come to power, thus making former PM H.D. Deve Gowda's dream comes true. He also lashed out at Siddharamaiah and PWD Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa for appointing their sons as Chairman of Awareness Committee on Housing Schemes at Varuna and T. Narasipura Constituencies respectively.

Former Minister A.H. Vishwanath, who joined the JD(S) recently, came down heavily on the Siddharamaiah Government. Asserting that he would strive for bringing the JD(S) to power in the 2018 Assembly polls, Vishwanath said that Deve Gowda played a key role in the formation of the first non-Congress Govt. in the State in 1983 and that spirit should be maintained now in throwing out the Siddharamaiah-led Congress Government.

Vishwanath will contest from Hunsur: GTD

Former Minister and Chamundeshwari MLA G.T Devegowda said that former MP A.H. Vishwanath will contest from Hunsur Assembly segment in the 2018 polls.

He said that his family and Prajwal Revanna have sacrificed the seat for Vishwanath. Expressing confidence that Vishwanath will win by a thumping majority, GTD said there was no doubt that H.D. Kumaraswamy will become the Chief Minister after the 2018 Assembly polls.

Differences Surface

Even as former VC Prof. Rangappa joined JD(S), differences within the party surfaced as the city JD(S) President K. Harish Gowda did not attend the meeting. Harish Gowda, who is a keen aspirant for Chamaraja Assembly segment, was said to be working to get the party ticket. But on the day, when Prof. Rangappa joined the party, Harish Gowda, deciding to stay away from the prog., left for Tamil Nadu, it is learnt.

HDK, who was visibly upset with Harish Gowda's absence, said that the City Unit Chief should have attended the event.

MLA S.R. Mahesh, MLCs Appaji Gowda and K.T. Srikantegowda, Zilla Panchayat President Nayeema Sulthana, Mayor M.J. Ravikumar, JD(S) District President Narasimha Swamy and others attended the event.

Enforce Goonda Act against those involved in disrupting peace: CM

Bengaluru, July 11 (KMS& VNS)- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, who also holds the Home portfolio, directed the Police to invoke stringent law against those involved in creating violence in the coastal region and also book the offenders under the Karnataka Control of Organised Crimes Act (KCOCA) or the Goonda Act. He was speaking at a meeting with top Police Officers at DG&IG office on Nrupatunga Road here yesterday.

Stating that Udupi and Dakshina Kannada districts were known for religious harmony, he said that few communal forces would try to disturb peace in the area as the State prepare for the ensuing Assembly polls.

Siddharamaiah is said to have taken IGP (West Range) Harishekaran and Dakshina Kannada SP Sudhir Kumar Reddy for allowing BJP MPs, MLAs and RSS leaders to protest following the murder of RSS activist Sharath Madiwala.

Hinting on enforcing ban order against communal groups in coastal areas, the CM asked the Police top brass to identify the 'handlers' in communal violence case and take stern action.

He said the top Police officers to visit the crime spot instead of giving instructions from their respective offices. "Though having information about possible violence, there were no measures taken to prevent the violence. If the senior Police officers were at the spot such violence could have been avoided," he added.

Asking the Police Department to submit a proposal, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah said that a new rule to ensure that a Police officer is not disturbed from his position for two years would be introduced soon.

Devotees, officials enter into duel over entering forest for temple visit

Gundlupet, July 11 (Som.G)- The National Highway 766, which connects Kerala with Karnataka, was blocked for over three hours near Maddur check-post in the taluk, following a duel and clash between the Forest Department officials and devotees of Inuru Marigudi Temple yesterday. A Forest Department official was reportedly injured in the clash. The temple is located in Kalkere Forest Range coming under Bandipur Tiger Reserve in the taluk. The trouble broke out after the Forest personnel stopped a large number of devotees who were on their way to the temple to offer puja on the occasion of Ashada month.

The officials, denying permission, stopped the devotees, hundreds of people breached the barricades and staged a protest, which resulted in disruption of vehicular traffic.

Thousands of devotees from Nanjangud, H.D. Kote and several other parts of Mysuru and Chamarajanagar districts, visit the temple to offer puja in Ashada month. But the Forest Department officials, citing forest fire last February in which a Forest Guard was killed and the visit of a large number of people, entering the forest, would result in the disturbance of animals and the chances of forest fire are high, had limited the entry of devotees to the forest temple. The Forest Dept. officials after denying entry, had set up check-posts at Kalkere and Maddur Forest Ranges and deployed STPF personnel at the check-posts.

The officials, including ACF Anthony S. Mariappa and K. Parameshwar and Dy.SP S.E. Gangadhara Swamy, tried to convince the devotees by asking them the visit the temple in groups of 25 people each. But the devotees disagreed and entered into a wordy duel with the officials and breached the barricades, besides blocking the road.

Moolehole RFO Sunil suffered injuries on his hand in the duel. The officials realising that the situation was going out of control, allowed the devotees to visit the temple under STPF and Police security. ASP Geetha Prasanna visited the spot.

Saudis want Qatar out; Turkey wants new dominant role; hostilities in Muslim lands pose problems for all

Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

There is turmoil in the Islamic world. Saudi Arabia has made a hardline prince the effective ruler. Qatar, isolated by neighbouring Arab States, is defiant. Turkey has become a virtual dictatorship, changing the country's profile and claiming a larger regional role for itself. The war zone in Syria sees Russia and the US challenging each other. Jihadists lie in wait for every opportunity.

These are not developments that concern only the Arabs and other Muslims. They make the world unsafe. India has reasons to worry.

The epicentre of the upheaval is Saudi Arabia, more specifically, its newly-elevated crown prince, Mohammed bin Salman, son of the 81-year-old King. He was the power wielder even earlier as deputy crown prince, Defence Minister and economic decision-maker. It was he who started the war in Yemen in early 2015.

Despite the US-backed air assaults and continuous ground bombardments at a cost to the Saudis of an estimated 200 million dollars a day, the Saudis have failed to suppress the largely Shiah Houthis of Yemen; the war that is into its third year has only shown Saudi Arabia's military incompetence. At one point, the Saudis used their wealth to put together what was called the Islamic Military Alliance with Pakistan's former Army Chief, Raheel Sharif, as Commander. It led to Sunni embarrassment all over, Gen. Raheel himself quietly quitting the scene.

Undaunted, the aggressive prince launched other, bolder initiatives: Arm-twisting of Qatar, an economic overhaul to reduce Saudi's dependence on oil (taxes have been introduced in the country), and a hardening of policies against Iran. These caused concern across the world. A memo by Germany's foreign intelligence service said Saudi Arabia was destabilising the Middle East with "an impulsive policy of intervention."

The unprecedented move against an Arab alliance member was not only impulsive but also counterproductive. Qatar is the headquarters of America's military base in the Gulf — a strategic reality that made the US, otherwise a spirited ally of Saudi Arabia, less than enthusiastic about "boycotting" Qatar. The reason for Saudi anger against Qatar is that the Qatar rulers do not consider Iran as an enemy. Qatar has tried to maintain, what is by Arab standards, a neutral position on many fronts. At one level, it runs Al Jazeera, the only Arab news service that has a degree of credibility. At another level, it keeps open its channels of communication with Iran, the Shia power Sunni Saudis consider their rival and which, therefore, they want to destroy.

While other Sunni Arab States like UAE fell in line with Saudi Arabia, the non-Arab Muslim power, Turkey, maintained fairly close relations with Iran. It did not hesitate to help Qatar when the Saudi alliance excommunicated it.

Turkey's elected dictator, Recep Tayyip Erdogan, is dismantling the secular republic created by the legendary Kemal Ataturk and building instead an Islamic State, which he hopes will acquire the kind of influence the old Istanbul-based Ottoman Empire did. Turkey was waiting like a supplicant to be admitted as a member of the European Union. Not any longer. Now Erdogan has turned against Europe, especially Germany and Netherlands where Turkey's Ministers were not allowed to address Turkish diaspora. Erdogan went so far as to call the Germans and the Dutch "Nazi gorillas." Turkey's Foreign Minister warned that Europe now faced the prospect of Holy War.

> Suddenly, it's an unsafe world. For India, too. The US and Saudi Arabia turning against Iran could tempt India to join them — which would be a costly mistake given the benefits India can reap from economic collaboration with Iran.

As far back as in 1996 Samuel Huntington had foreseen something like this happening. His Clash of Civilisations had said that at some point Turkey could resume its "historical role as the principal Islamic interlocutor." This would happen, he prophesied, if Turkey rejected Ataturk's legacy "more thoroughly than Russia has rejected Lenin's." That is just what is happening.

Fear of the unexpected has changed the tenor of life. Security protocols control everything. Suddenly, it's an unsafe world. For India, too. The US and Saudi Arabia turning against Iran could tempt India to join them — which would be a costly mistake given the benefits India can reap from economic collaboration with Iran. The Bangladesh Government told Delhi a few months ago that there was a three-fold increase in the number of jihadis infiltrating into India.

The IS has made its presence felt in the country. It has even attracted young people from well-to-do Muslim families to join their ranks. The insecurity violent cow vigilantes have produced among Muslims in some parts of the country may be a factor in this. Everywhere there is uncertainty in the air. The world is tense. The darkness deepens.

When Star of Mysore asked him what Sy. No. 3 was, the MLA evaded a direct answer and again said that Sy. No. 4 and Sy. No 41 must have been included in Sy. No. 3.

He said that after the meeting held in March at the CITB choultry in Siddarthanagar in which the Deputy Commissioner and other officials were present, he had prepared a report taking information from MUDA and sent it to the DC and from there it was sent to the Regional Commissioner, who in turn had sent it to the Revenue Department Secretary Ramana Reddy.

Since there were writ petitions filed in the High Court, Ramana Reddy had called for a detailed report from the DC. In turn, the DC held a meeting yesterday (10.7.2017) with the MUDA Commissioner and a few others and gathered the details, he said.

In another 8-10 days, a couple of meetings will be held with the people concerned and the report will be sent to the Revenue Department Secretary in 10-12 days. Once this is completed, the report will be placed before the Cabinet and a proper decision taken to benefit the residents of Siddarthanagar, K.C. Layout, J.C. Nagar and Income Tax Layout, said Somashekar.

DC D. Randeep and MUDA Commissioner Dr. M. Mahesh during a meeting held yesterday.

"I have personally brought the issue to the notice of the Chief Minister and the Revenue Minister regarding the MUDA Layouts coming under Sy. No. 4 and Sy. No. 41 and impressed upon them the problems faced by the residents. I have also asked them to take a decision in the Cabinet at the earliest and the Revenue Minister has agreed for the same," the MLA said.

Somashekar also clarified that the 43 writ petitions filed in the High Court had nothing to do with the issue on hand.

However, he charged the BJP for making it a political issue and mislead the people. He asked, "When a more contentious issue like the Vijayashreepura Layout was solved amicably, is it not possible to find a solution to the Sy.No. 4 and Sy. No. 41 issue which is far less complicated."

Congress leader Madegowda, Corporator M. Sunil and Devaraja Block Congress Minorities Committee President Khaleem were present.

PROTEST TOMORROW

CFTRI launches Ragi Mudde making machine

Former PM H.D. Deve Gowda, who launched the ragi mudde making machine at CFTRI yesterday, is seen with CFTRI Director Prof. Ram Rajasekharan and former VC. Prof. K.S. Rangappa.

Mysuru, July 11 (NNN) - Former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda was surprised and overwhelmed to see the humble ragi mudde, introduced by him as an international cuisine when he was the Prime Minister, right in front of him at the food research institute with international reputation. He could not help but immediately roll the mudde into small balls, dip it into the curry and swallow it.

This was the scene yesterday afternoon at the Central Food Technological Research Institute (CFTRI) in city, where he inaugurated the ragi mudde making machine manufactured by CSIR-CFTRI. Each machine can discharge 250 muddes weighing 200 to 250 grams in just one hour. Appreciating the efforts of CFTRI for this initiative, he said, after tasting the mudde, "This is a good effort on the part of CFTRI to come out with a machine that can discharge muddes in such huge quantities. This will help people to prepare more muddes quickly."

What is so special about ragi mudde? Because it is both delicious and nutritious. 72 percent of ragi flour by weight is carbohydrates, it's rich in proteins, vitamin B6, calcium, iron, potassium, magnesium, zinc, folic acid and amino acid methionine. Its fat percentage is low at 1.3, and its protein proportion is almost as that of wheat.

JD(S) Supremo Haradanahalli Doddegowda Deve Gowda savouring the ragi mudde.

CFTRI Director Prof. Ram Rajasekharan, speaking to Star of Mysore, said there are plans to improvise the mudde machine. "If the mudde instead of being made into a ball is broken then the steam cooking will be more effective," he said.

"Before coming out with a conceptual design we had visited Suttur Mutt, Mysore Central Jail and a few other places to see how mudde was being prepared in large quantities and how hygienic was the preparation. We were not convinced about the hygienic conditions. Hence, we wondered why we should not come out with our own design," said Senior Principal Scientist V. D. Nagaraj speaking to SOM.

He said that before designing it for commercial production, he presented the project to the Department of Science and Technology and once the approval was given, he fabricated the machine using stainless steel. Each machine will cost between Rs. 3 lakh and Rs 3.5 lakh. It is a fully automated machine and nothing will be touched by hand.

"It is 6 ft. in height and 3 ft. wide and can fit into any nook of a big hotel kitchen or a factory canteen," he said and added, "TVS company has already approached us and they wanted the machine within a week. However, we have a few formalities to be completed before we release the design into the market."

H.D. Deve Gowda calls upon scientists to come out with drought-resistant crop varieties

Former PM H.D. Deve Gowda, who gave away medals to M.Sc. Food Technology and ISMT courses at CFTRI yesterday, is seen with former VC Prof K.S. Rangappa, CFTRI Director Prof. Ram Rajasekharan, M.Sc. Food Technology Course Co-ordinator Dr. M.N. Shashirekha and ISMT Co-ordinator Prof. G.S. Gangadharappa.

Mysuru, July 11 (YDS&NNN)- The scientists should come out with drought-resistant crop varieties that use less water to help farmers, said JD(S) Supremo and former PM H.D. Deve Gowda. He was speaking as the chief guest at the 'Awards Day' function organised by CFTRI yesterday at its IFTTC Hall where he presented medals and certificates to the 51st batch students who had passed the M.Sc. Food Technology course and International School of Milling Technology (ISMT) courses.

He said "due to change in climatic conditions the water shortage has increased. Hence the scientists should come out with better ideas through research to combat this situation by trying to introduce drought-resistant crops."

There are cancer-causing elements in most of the food that we are consuming today. Research organisations like CFTRI must produce food that helps in controlling diabetes and other life-style diseases through research and present it to the country. "It is very laudable that CFTRI has adopted Puttagona village and providing basic facilities and to see them encouraging women empowerment."

A farmer in Ramanagaram, who does not know the techniques of farming, has been able to grow high quality crops and been successful. Similarly, there are farmers like this throughout the country. Such farmers should be identified and both the Centre and State Governments should assist them and more importance should be given to them, said Deve Gowda.

Former University of Mysore Vice-Chancellor Prof K.S. Rangappa, who was the guest of honour, said that there was a deep bond between the University and CFTRI. The existing Universities are losing their autonomy and the government is interfering too much. This could result in creating problems for administration.

He called upon the CFTRI scientists to come out with more research on the obesity found among the city-bred children, malnutrition among rural children and to develop disease-resistant crop varieties.

CFTRI Director Prof. Ram Rajasekharan presided.

The chief guest H.D. Deve Gowda also planted a sapling at the CFTRI premises.

London, July 11- Rafael Nadal's hopes of winning a third Wimbledon title are over for another year after an epic five-set defeat by 16th seed Gilles Muller of Luxembourg.

The 15-time major champion fought back from two sets down before Muller took a fifth match point to win 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 4-6, 15-13 in 4 hours and 47 minutes. It ended the Spaniard's bid to win back-to-back French Open and Wimbledon titles for a joint-record third time. Muller, 34, will play Croatia's seventh seed Marin Cilic in the last eight.

Both Nadal and Muller received a standing ovation and rapturous applause after the longest and arguably finest match of this year's tournament.

Nadal's mental resilience and physical endurance has long been lauded, but the cool-headed Muller impressively refused to buckle as he finally claimed his fifth match point over an hour and a half after missing his first.

Nadal served out nine games to stay in the contest as the pair exchanged 32 holds in a gripping finale. A tense climax saw the Spaniard save two match points to level at 5-5 and miss four break points of his own at 9-9. Still the drama continued as Muller failed to convert two more match points at 10-9, until he eventually completed the best win of his career.

Novak Djokovic's match against unseeded Frenchman Adrian Mannarino, scheduled as the third match on Court One, was postponed until Tuesday as a result.

Mysuru, July 11 (SBD&US)- "Any art should not be tagged with its geographical origin and all forms of art in the State should be treated as a single entity," opined former Chief Minister Dr. M. Veerappa Moily.

He was speaking at the valedictory of the three-day 'Yakshotsava' organised by Innovative-Mysuru in association with the Department of Kannada and Culture at Jaganmohan Palace here on Sunday.

Dr. Moily observed that there was a demarcation between art of South and North and similarly Yakshagana should be treated as an art of Karnataka instead of aligning it to coastal region alone.

He pointed out that people of the State should feel proud of Yakshagana like Kathakali in Kerala. He added that such an encouragement would spread the wings of Yakshagana across the world.

Citing an example, Dr. Moily said there were six Yakshagana Melas in Kateel near Mangaluru and to organise a show, it should be booked years in advance indicating that Yakshagana had survived despite a quantum leap in modern technology.

Continuing, he said that the music of Yakshagana too was unique like Karnatak or Hindustani music. He pointed out that personality should blend with culture to evolve a true person and added that wisdom should be coupled with humility and faith in God to make life complete.

Hailing G.S. Bhatta as the Cultural Ambassador of Yakshagana, Dr. Moily commended the former for promoting Yakshagana in city for the last four decades.

RTE Act-2009 focuses on Quality of Education

Mysuru, July 11- "The quality of education is a matter of global concern. In India, The Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education (RTE) Act, 2009, was introduced with a view that every child in the age group of 6-14 years gets quality education. In this connection, the goals of education needed to be envisioned in a broader manner than merely the learning of subjects. The RTE Act would now include definitions of learning outcomes for classes 1 to VIII," said Prof. Y. Sreekanth, Principal, Regional Institute of Education (RIE), NCERT, Mysuru, while inaugurating a three-day Regional Workshop on Learning Outcomes here on July 10.

Prof. Sreekanth further said that for the first time NCERT has developed Learning Outcomes which have been incorporated in the Right To Education (RTE). This document has been translated into different Southern languages in collaboration with the States. The National Achievement Survey (NAS) is based on these Learning Outcomes. Children enter school with their own learning experiences. A teacher who is a facilitator of children's learning needs to be made aware of various pedagogies and also the progress in the child's learning. This is very important for providing quality eEducation for all, he said.

Continuing, he said NCERT has developed expected learning outcomes class-wise (from classes 1 to VIII) for all subjects such as Environmental Studies, Science, Mathematics, Social Sciences, Hindi, English, Urdu to help all stakeholders make their efforts in the right direction to ensure learning outcomes among students, and help provide quality education.

Prof. Sreekanth also informed the gathering that the second workshop on Learning Outcomes will be held soon in Trivandrum covering other Southern States.

Dr. Varada Nikalje, Ptrogramme Coordinator from NCERT, New Delhi, explained the contours of the three-day workshop.

The NCERT New Delhi Team comprising Dr. Satya Bhushan, Dr. Vijayan, Prof. Sandhya Singh, Prof. Faruq Ansari, Prof. Rachana Garg and Prof. Aparna Pandey are also participating in the workshop.

As many as 38 participants representing Teachers, Teacher Educators, Administrators, Research Scholars, DMS Teachers DIET faculty from Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka and Telangana and a representative from Mysore Pratham are attending the workshop.

WORD OF THE DAY

Inalienable

Pronunciation: in-AY-lee-uh-nuh-bul
Meaning: Incapable of being alienated, surrendered, or transferred.
Origin: Alien, alienable, inalienable—it's easy enough to see the Latin word alius, meaning "other," at the root of these three words. Alien joined our language in the 14th century, and one of its earliest meanings was "belonging to another." By the early 1600s that sense of alien had led to alienable, an adjective describing something you can give away or transfer to another owner. The word unalienable came about as its opposite, but so did inalienable, a word most likely borrowed into English on its own from French. Inalienable is the more common form today, and although we often see both forms used to modify "rights," it was unalienable that was used in the Declaration of Independence to describe life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

THE ODD WORD

Haurient

Rising as if to breathe (like fish or other marine creature).

PHRASE OF THE DAY

We know where you live

Meaning: A threat of violence.
Origin: This phrase has been current in the UK since the early 1990s. Of course, there's more to this than the literal meaning of the words. What's implied is that the aggressors have the information to locate their victim at home and intend to seek them out there and attack them.
This piece from The Times, June 1992 reported death threats to DessaTrevisan their correspondent in Belgrade and included this threat made by 'unidentified men', outside Belgrade's International Press Centre:
"We know where you live. We will break down your door and come to finish you." In the King James Version of the Bible, Revelations 2:13, there is the line: 'I know thy works, and where thou dwellest'
The 'we know where you live' thugs aren't likely to be Biblical scholars though and that's hardly likely to be the source of the recent phrase.
